BRING FINE DINING TO YOUR RAILROAD!

NEW HO Dinner Belle Train & Restaurant

- Complete Train Plus Station
- Classy Custom Paint Scheme

From the time the Sierra Railroad first launched its "Supper Chief" in the 1970s to today's many special runs, dinner trains take passengers back to the days of fine dining on the rails. For rail enthusiasts the attraction of dinner trains is their restored vintage equipment. For couples it's a chance to dine in a romantic setting as the train rolls along. The station is where dinner excursions originate. Many trains use their station as a staging/prep area for meals as well as a ticket office and some use it as their restaurant.

Walthers new Dinner Belle Train & Restaurant is your opportunity to run classy, detailed passenger equipment on your modern-era mainlines and branch lines. A detailed PROTO F7A heads up three dining cars plus there's station kit, all featuring a distinctive custom color scheme.

Kraft Mill

- All-New Model

933-3900 Plastic Kit $69.98

Pulp is blown into the Kraft Mill where it washed, treated bleached and pressed into sheets.

Recovery Boiler House

933-3901 Plastic Kit $54.98

The Recovery Boiler reclaims processing chemicals for re-use, generates power and steam and refines brown stock into tall oil for use in glue, rubber, etc.

Paper Mill

933-3902 Plastic Kit $69.98

Pulp is fed into the Paper Mill where it's pressed into a thin layer, dried and wound into huge rolls of paper.

Rotary Dumper

933-3903 Plastic Kit $39.98

Loads of woodchips are quickly dumped into a pit by rotating a clamped car in the Rotary Dumper.

Pulp Tanks

933-3904 Plastic Kit $24.98

Pulp Tanks turn wood chips into a pulp mixture sent to the Kraft Mill for processing.

Cast Resin Details

- All-New Models
- Fully Assembled & Decorated

Pulpwood Stack

933-3905 Cast Resin $12.98

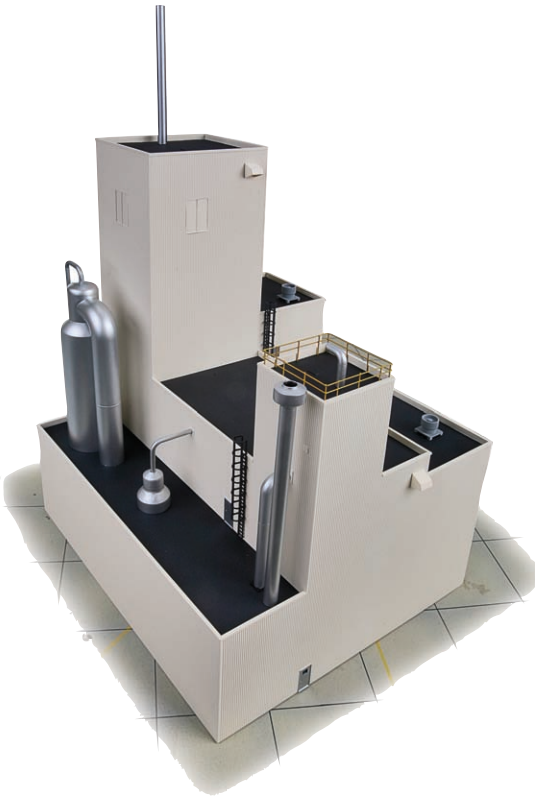

Stacks like these are seen in forests or trackside awaiting loading. They're also stored outside paper mills.

Paper Rolls

933-3906 Cast Resin $12.98
(Includes 2 "brown kraft paper"& 2 "cellophane" rolls)

Paper Rolls are the finished product from the paper mill. Place them inside trucks or boxcars or on a receiving dock.

WALTHERS®

Leader of the Fleet!

BROADWAY LIMITED

Thundering over the great "broad way" between New York and Chicago, no finer train served the Pennsylvania than the Broadway Limited. Its exclusive clientele demanded — and received — the very best, from equipment to impeccable service.

Flagship of a Blue Ribbon fleet of luxury streamliners, the Broadway was the ultimate blend of luxury and speed. Based on the 1953 train and re-created in exacting HO Scale, Walthers seventh complete name train captures the magic of the Broadway at its very best.

The complete consist includes nine all-new cars and matching PROTO 2000® E8 diesels, all with the finest detail you expect from Walthers, the name train experts.

Power for Pennsy's Finest — PROTO 2000® E8A Units

Handling the Blue Ribbon Fleet, Pennsy's 74 E8A units began arriving in 1949 and provided outstanding power and performance for years. Like their prototypes, Walthers E8s include Train Phone antenna, an improved five-chime air horn replica, nose lift rings and much more. Multiple unit numbers are available, and each is factory-finished in authentic paint, lettering and striping to match the cars. Choose Sound and DCC equipped, or Standard DC versions. Other features include:

- See-Through Air Intake Grilles
- Painted Metal Grab Irons, Handrails & Lift Rings
- Superb Paint & Lettering
- Five-Pole, Skew-Wound, High-Torque, High-Efficiency Can Motor
- Helical Gears with 12:1 Ratio for Smooth, Ultra-Quiet Running
- Easy Multiple-Unit Operation
- Proto MAX™ Metal Knuckle Couplers

The introduction of the 89' flatcar in 1960 opened the door for a new generation of piggyback service. Equipped with a pair of collapsible hitches, these big cars could easily handle older 35' and/or newer 40' trailers. In the mid 60s, new cars were introduced with flush decks, which simplified trailer loading and made it possible to fit special equipment on board. The 1980s marked a turning point as 45' trailers became standard and older cars were modernized to accommodate a pair of the longer trailers. As still larger trailers and containers arrived, they were adapted to new roles as auto racks and specialized flatcars, where they remain in use today.

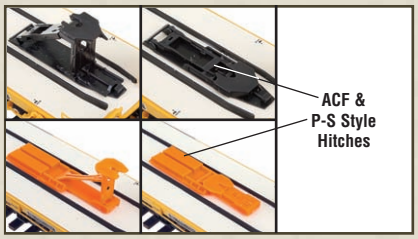

Walthers Bethlehem 89'4" Flush-Deck Flatcars come ready to run and include a complete set of add-on wire grab irons; molded drill starter points on the body simplify installation. Magnetic knuckle couplers and free-rolling trucks with RP-25 metal wheelsets round out each car.

Did You Know?

Your selection of freight cars tells a lot about your layout and the era you're modeling.

Your newest cars will show the least amount of wear and tear, and may sport more colorful paint and lettering.

But cars may see 40 or more years of regular service, and as they age, will need occasional repairs, repainting or upgrades. These changes can be modeled through weathering, changing lettering schemes or by replacing certain details.

Did You Know?
From the earliest days of railroading, most railroads used hardwood ties. Since the 1960s however, North American railroads have found precast concrete ties effective in certain applications.

Concrete ties are being installed in large numbers where high-tonnage traffic causes fishplates to dig into wood ties, shortening their lives. Concrete ties outperform wood, plus they're impervious to insects, water and fungus.

Lines with concrete ties include UP and BNSF, eastern coal lines, transit systems and light rail lines.

Biggest Track Sale of the Season Ends Soon!

❖ Browse our Biggest Track Sale of the Season online!
Search by manufacturer, scale, price range and more. For even more track components, use the Walthers advanced search tool.

❖ Looking for new track ideas?
Check out some downloadable track plans on our website. If you like the plans, but don't have the components, don't worry. A one-click buy link is located on most of the plans with package pricing for all the track you need.

Have fun and look around, but don't wait too long!

REALISTIC FIGURES

Paint is a great way to make your figures look more life-like. Here's a great technique to fine-tune a prepainted figure.

1. Clean up mold lines and ejector pin marks. For a hard plastic figure, scrape with a knife blade or use a file. For a soft plastic figure use a sharp knife and cut off the seams.

2. Tidy up the paint. Clean up the edges and fine-tune the existing paint. You can also change colors to make the figure fit your scene better. Be sure to use acrylics for the base color to prevent solvent washes from lifting the color off.

3. Apply a dark solvent oil wash. Mix a small amount of artist's oil color with turpentine to create your wash. Use a darker color similar to the one being covered or use raw umber over all. Burnt sienna wash was used over flesh with a raw umber wash around the eyes, nose and mouth on both figures. We used Payne's gray on the shirt of the Life-Like figure and black on the pants. Raw umber was used on the white t-shirt and pants on the Preiser figure.

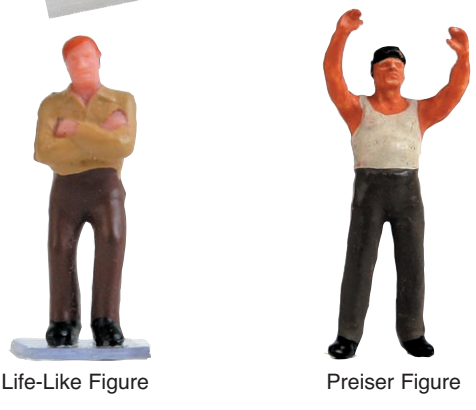

Once the wash is dry, use a clean dry brush (a stiff brush works best) to wipe the color off the high areas, leaving the recessed areas dark. Dab lighter tones of oil colors on high areas and lightly blend. We used Naples yellow to highlight the flesh. The key is to have a good contrast between highlight and shadow, so don't over blend.

Redefine facial features like eyes and lips. Add final details like buttons, belt buckles, etc.

Did You Know?
The first locomotive light appeared in 1832, when heavy traffic on the South Carolina Railroad led management to try running after dark. The tracks were actually lit using two flat cars ahead of the engine; the first was covered with sand a small fire started, the second had a large iron sheet attached to serve as a reflector!

Oil-burning headlights appeared in 1860, followed by battery-powered lights in 1874, and electric lamps in 1883. As train speeds increased in the 20th century, additional warning lights were used with both fixed and flashing beams.

Did You Know?

Dirt is often any model locos' worst enemy! If an engine is running slowly or poorly, it may be because there's a build-up of dirt on wheels, electrical pick ups or rails. A quick pass with a liquid or other special cleaner for model trains is often enough to solve these problems.

Proper lubrication is also necessary. Oil and grease should be applied sparingly, and always use lubricants made especially for model trains.

It's the little things that Count

The fun of layout detailing begins once you've arranged the structures along your layout's rail lines and streets. Vehicles, figures, building lights and signs bring scenes to life and help set time and place. Here are a few possibilities for adding interest to your miniature landscape.

Turn an average street scene into an action-filled construction area simply by adding a few essential details.
