Did You Know?

Next time you're stopped in traffic, look at vehicles on the road for modeling tips.

Most are anything but showroom shiny. Dirt and grime accumulate, paint peels, and where there's rain, snow or salt air, rust will be visible.

Use powdered chalk or thinned paint to add grit and grime, especially on the lower half where it's kicked up from the wheels.

Weathering can be era-specific! Before modern formulas and clearcoat, paint oxidized quickly. This can be modeled using chalks that are close to the color of the model or a coat of dull flat finish.
